it been called four days later, he would de-with no greater accuracy than he did then, "an bered having seen the article in the Enquirer.

He was sorry that it had appeared; especially because it was their own paper. (Greater confusion.) He regretted the fact that an attache of that establishment should have brought it into disfavor with his fellow-countrymen by an article of that kind. He had no idea that the writer of it intended an insult-on the contrary, he probably had been rejoicing over the glorious memory of the Saint whose day it commemorated, just before he threw off the foolish, or would-be witty effusion. (Tremendous uproar and expressions of indignation.)

Tookey resumed: He was not an apologis for the Enquirer; but he would say let every man who felt himself aggrieved by that article redress his grievance at once by discontinuing the paper, and not by coming at the call of an anonymous requisition to an indignation meeting. [Cries, "It didn't come from the Court-

Calls for Mr. McGroarty, the Secretary, were responded to by that gentleman mounting his chair to address the meeting. He said : Though he was a small man he had got a back-bone.

Nor was he afraid to address a meeting of his fellow-countrymen, whether the requisition which called them together was signed by many or by none. Though he was rather opposed to the calling of the meeting, yet, when he was called upon to serve, he did not, nor would not, object. [Cheers.] If they were offended with the article in the Enquirer, he would say show your resentment as men and as Irishmen; but for God's sake, show it wisely. Mr. McGroarty then spoke at considerable length, and with great fervor of the historical glory of "Ould Ireland"-in its religious, military, social and other aspects - pouring forth sentiments of patriotism, which evidently thrilled through the bosoms of his animated and delighted audience. He finally declared that man a fool who, at that hour of day, was ignorant of the history of Ireland. If he were a Christian, did he not know that the religion h had he was depending upon the Irish people for it? And if they would talk of schools, why he could point them to a time when every shelter, shade and nook throughout the land of their birth was sacred to the holy duties of instructing the youth in knowledge and in piety. [Great cheering.] Mr. Mc

Groarty, growing warmer on his theme, here flung off his coat, and immediately plunged into the dread arena of contending armies, and amid the clash of arms, he failed not to hold up the gallant Irish soldier to the admiration and imitation (if required) of that enthusiastic audience. Then turning to the question at issue, he said the Irishman might be guilty of many errors, but he was never guilty of ingratitude. The article in the Enquirer was intended as an insult, or it was not. (Cries of No, no; yes, yes; it was; it was not, etc.) But he would say that, if it were not at first in-

LAW REPORT.

SUPERIOR COURT. Decisions at Special Team, by Judoz Guotado.— Gazley vs. Carey, Fairon, and others. An injunction had been allowed and dissolved, and a motion was before the Court new to reinstate it. The Court could not see how the additional shewing in the amended petition effected the principle on which the injunction must have been dissolved. Motion overruled. hour, at an expense, for fuel, of one cent and the injunction must have been dissolved. Motion overruled.

Sergeant vs. Townsend. Motion to dismiss an action because the petition was not properly verified. The objection was that the words preceding the signature were "aubscribed before me," instead of "subscribed in my presence." While the Court would intimate that it would be better to follow the language of the Codes, they could not hold that justice required such an objection as this to be sustained.

Brinkrager vs. Mack & Bro. The petition alleges the obtaining of a warrant of attorney by false precesses to secure a clebit that defendant caused judgment to be entered on this warrant, and execution to issue, under which the goods of pisintiff were seized, and his store closed, causing the suspension of his bulinces for several days, and an injury to his credit and standing, remitting in a direct damage of $2,000. To this petition there was a demurrer.

Court—If the original fraud be the gist of the action, the damages are not proximated by improper conduct of the defendant in obtaining the warrant of attorney, does not make the subsequent proceeding under it malicious. The action could not, therefore, be maintained in the form brought. Demurrer vastained.

Delworth vs. Strong. Action on a covenant in a lease before the Court on a devenuers the interest and the approper of the hearters of the approper of the hearters of the approper of the approper of the approper of the proper of the approper of the appro murrer sustained.

Delworth vs. Strong. Action on a covenant in a lease before the Court on a demurrer to the answer—the question being whether a new lease was received in satisfaction or suspension of said covenant. The Court held that such was not to be inferred from the execution of the lease, and sustained the demurrer. Mitchell vs. Feith, Action to redeem land bought by an assignor of defendant, under a proceeding to foreclose without making plaintiff (also a mortgages) a party. The case was before the Court on a denutrer to the answer, which was overruled, and leave given to roply.

foreclose without making plaintiff (also a mortigages) a party. The case was before the Court on a demurrer to the answer, which was overruled, and leave given to reply.

Jones vs. Ripley. The City Council desired to enlarge Clark street, and passed an order for that purpose, by which they condemned and took off from the defendant's lot 25 feet, leaving him a narrow strip of fee feet, Sifeet along the line of said street; and subsequently an order was passed for the grading of this street, without reference to the former action of Council in relation to this piece of property.

In disposing of a question as to the actilement, Judge Gholson remarked, that he supposed, in the condemnation of this property, the fact that the evidence would be comparatively worthless to the party, was taken into consideration—the lot being of no salue, except by its sale to an adjoining proprietor. The case, however, was one which should have called for some attention before the order was made for the grading of the street. If such a charge was put on property as would amount to confiscation, this Court had heretofore held that it would be an abuse of power on the part of the city. The Court should overrule the demurrer, and allow the case to go to trial to ascertain what the value was.

Reynolds vs. Smith and others. The petition was founded on an ordinance directing the grading and paving of a street, in which a number of defendants were interested, and who all appeared and filed the same answer. The defense relied on was chiefly this—the ordinance provided for the grading of High street, from Washington street to homper's lane, and the defendants aver, as a matter of fact, that there is no such street—that the ground had never been used or dedicated as a street.

Judge Gholson said that if it was true, as claimed, that Council undertook to grade and improve private property in this way, and then seek to make an assessment generally on the owners of property on an undisputed highway in connection with the property on an undispute ings last night for the nomination of Ward and Nixon's Hall, to nominate candidates for the April election. merely of personal property, and that the law governing sales of real estate, where the plaintiff is the purchaser, does not apply.

The Court regarded this case as being within the spirit and intent, if not the strict letter, of the statute. There was an equitable right to purchase, which frequently is, and perhaps in this case was, an important interest. Within the fair scope and intent of the statute it might be considered as real estate. The Sheriff, therefore, would be limited to the usual poundage in such cases. Becree ordered to be drawn in accordance with these views.

Reeves vs. Stetson. The plaintiff suce as the holder of two notes, for $4,000 each, executed by Stetson, and secured by mortgage on his property, (a certain interest in the Spencer House property, in this city. The defendant in his answer alleges that the note and mortgage were executed as a collateral security for certain debts of the Oak Bridge Furnace Co. and that that company should first be proceeded against. Where there were two securities, a party when the such a case. Here there was but one security—one mortgage—and the plaintiff would be entitled to a decree of foreclosure. Some difficulty might arise as to how the decree should be framed, as othe parties—Miss Charlotte Cushman among others—has hought parties—was to be seen and the plaintiff would be entitled to the content of the property—and if there was to be Second Ward—Council, Henry Mack; Constable, Geo. arise as to how the decree should be framed, as other parties—Miss Charlotte Cashman among others—had incumbrances on the property—and if there was to be a sale, it should be subject to those claims.

Means vs. The Cincinnati and Chicago Bailroad Company. A petition filed to subject to the payment of a independent certain bonds, in the hands of Smith and Gilbert, saleged to belong to the judgment debtor. It appeared the bonds ran for a short period and were secured by mortgage. The Court did not think they could be regarded as coming within the rule laid down as being merely goods and effects libel to seture or sale. As to a question of an attorney's lien in the case—a lien of an attorney must be accomplished by possession, so far as papers of this kind are concerned, to give it any force, or be founded on some specific agreement. The Court was now asked to put these bonds to sale—to create a large debt against the Company to pay a small one, the judgment creditor could not set up any claim to create this additional debt. Order of sale refused, and petition and cross petition dismissed at costs of respective parties.

COMMON PLEAS. CIVIL SIDE.—Judge Mallon resumed business in his branch of the Court—heard applications for citizen-ship and took up submitted cases. Judge Dickson also heard submitted cases.

U. S. Courrs .- In the United States Court verterday, Benj. Deford, assignee of Elder & Webb, Baltimore, filed a bill in chancery against the Chillicothe Branch Bank of the State of Ohio, charging that the President and Cashier had represented that Alexander Fraser and his securities were responsible and wealthy parties, and that any drafts drawn by Fraser on E. & W. would be perfectly secure, and that the resuit had proved that Fraser and his securities were insolvent - by such misrepresentation causing E. & W. to lose over $100,000, which sum they ask that the bank shall be compelled to refund them with interest.

PRINTERS FOR PIKE'S PRAK.-A joint stock company, composed exclusively of the "followers of Faust," is being formed in this city for the purpose of seeking quoins at the above locality. The Cabinet-Makers' Protective Irish Indignation Meeting Last Night. Union.

MONDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

As usual, Arbiter Hall was crowded yesterday afternoon by the members of the above association.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The Finance Committee reported an increase in the treasury since the last meeting. The Committee of Investigation made the following report:

Mitchell & Rammelsberg wanted to see the ommittee. It was agreed to leave it to the discretion of the committee, whether they should call on this firm or not. Had received a communication from the es tablishment of S. J. Johns, signed by J. S. Johns, stating that they were willing to have a "Shop Committee" provided the prices demanded were not higher than other shops were paying. It was here maintained that it was not the duty of the "Shop Committee," to regulate the prices, etc., and moved that the report be sent back to Mr. Johns, with a copy of the printed requirements of the Union, for his signature.

Carried. Mr. Knoblough had been again consulted. Had not only signed the bill, but had complied with the requirements of the Union as to a "Shop Committee."

This report was received with immense applause, and required most strenuous efforts on the part of the President to restore order.

A report from Mr. Mertz was received, but, inasmuch as it was indefinite, it was ordered to be sent back. Mr. Steinman signed the bill; also the pro-iso for a "Shop Committee." This announcement caused quite a sensation. The President was again compelled to assert his authority. No report from the following factories Weiderich & Jones, Kramer & Co., and Mr. Wrampelmeir.

The foreman of the factory of Johnston & Meader wants the committee to "come down and compromise." Left to the discretion of the committee.

The papers for the incorporation of the Cabinet Makers' Protective Union," were presented, read by the President, and acepted. The committee appointed to reply to the card of Mr. Rammelsberg, of the firm of Mitchell k Rammelsberg, published in the Daily Press, of the 26th inst., was allowed further time to procure the necessary documents, etc. It was stated the committee would have the affidavits all ready, properly signed, and would present the same to the meeting to-morrow.

No other business, the meeting adjourned to meet this afternoon, at two o'clock,

SHERIPF'S SALES .- On the 26th inst. the Sheriff sold the following real estate: Lot in Anderson Township, on the road from Newtown to Armstrong's Mills, near the Baptist Church. Valued at $400. Sold to Wm. Lot No. 73, in M. B. Debolt's subdivision in Newtown, 35 feet front on County Road, corner of Center street. Valued at $125. Sold to Wm. Ferris, for $105. Lot No. 17, in M. B. Debolt's subdivision in Newtown, 50 feet on Plum street, 140 8-10 feet deep. Valued at $350. Sold to Louisa S. Dunham, for $260. Lot No. 18, in same subdivision in Newtown, 50 feet on Plum street, 140 8-10 feet deep. Valued at $70. Sold to Louisa S. Dunham, for $65. Yesterday, of four pieces of property offered for sale but one was sold :

Lot south-west corner of John and Clark streets, 74 feet 9 inches front, running back to Fulton street, with Church building thereon. Valued at $13,000. Sold to Trustees of the Fifth Presbyterian Church, for $8,666 67;

The attendance was quite large, but there seemed little inclination to purchase, as the property which was offered was not very valuable or attractive to those who wish to invest money in real estate.

ANOTHER HOMICIDE.-ARREST OF THE PARriss.—Another of those affrays, over which all persons alike who have the good of society at neart feel sad, and which have of late been far too frequent in our city, resulting in the death of one of the parties, took place on Sunday afternoon at a boarding and drinking-house, No. 572 Front street. The evidence before the Coroner's jury gives the following as the facts

Three men, Henry Morris, Franklin Lee and - Prince, while under the influence of liquor at the house of Absalom Grapevine, on Sunday afternoon about two o'clock, quarreled, and Grapevine coming from behind his counter, asked them to desist and keep quiet. Morris, it is stated, replied that it was none of his business what they did, and that he would fight if he choose, and at the same time turned to pass into a back room, when Grapevine seized stick of wood and struck him on the left temple, making a wound about five inches long, fracturing the skull and lacerating the viscera to such an extent that he died from its effects at three o'clock on Monday morning. The verdict of the jury was in accordance with the above.

All the parties concerned, with the exception of Prince, including the wife of Grapevine, and also of Morris, were arrested and locked up in the Hammond-street Station-house to await a hearing before the Police Court this morning.

Ass Cross, the notorious burgiar, who was onveyed to the penitentiary on Saturday last, came near making his escape from the cars. He had managed to saw off the rivets from his shackles, but his trick was fortunately discovered by Deputy Sheriff Thomas, when 'Abe'' was properly secured, and guarded until his arrival at the State Capital.

THE Washington Union has been sold to Gen. Bowman. A change in name is anticiof a time when every paper in the city was against them but the Enquirer. (A voice: "Which of the proprietors?" Confusion, "Put him out," etc.) The speaker did not say they could justify the article, but he would say that the calling of that meeting to denounce the Enquirer could not be justified. They had no right to come together to pass a resolution against that paper; if they were insulted, the most they could do was to refuse it from henceforth. Mr. McGroarty continued to speak for At half-past seven we might be seen wendseveral minutes, on the importance of the Irish ing our way toward the Franklin Hall, corner laborer to this country, in constructing railof Sixth and Sycamore streets. One remark, made by a person, himself an Irishmen, struck us so forcibly that we took a note of it: "I don't see," said he, "any sense in this meeting. If

Mr. Glenn called the attention of the meeting to circumstances which occurred a few years back. When the fires of persecution were lighted up, in Philadelphia chiefly, against the Irishman and his religion, what paper was it in that city that stood their friend but the Enquirer? (Cheers.) Or what journal was it, at a later time, when that cursed genius of Know-Nothingism rose with feroclous enmity against the Irish, that defended them? The Enquirer. Whoever was the author of that article on St. Patrick's Day, he had no hesitation in saying he had neither spite nor malice; and, in his view, it was merely a joke.

The speaker was compelled to desist by the shouts of dissatisfaction which rose from all parts of the room. Presently the Committee made their appearance, and Mr. Kennebeck proceeded to rend the following resolutions:

Resolved, That it is the opinion of this meeting that the article on St. Patrick's Day, published in the Enquirer of the 18th inst., and repeated with additions on Sunday last, coacourse, could not be given, as it was published anonymously. Resolved, That it was not our intention in the foregoing resolutions to reflect on any po-litical party, and that we entirely exonerate the party, of which the Enquirer claims to be the exponent, from all blame; feeling, as we do, that the author and publisher of the vulgar no-tice complained of are neither the exponents of Democratic doctrine nor the idol of any one but

The resolutions were carried by a tremendou majority.

The Chairman addressed the meeting, but not in favor of the action taken; and was followed by Mr. Kennefeck and another gentleman, whose speeches we have no space for, though we took extensive notes of both. During Mr. Kennefeck's address, Mr. Myers was rather rudely thrust out of the meeting, which caused Mr. Toohey to complain afterward of the want of fair play and honorable behavior.

TERRIBLE DISASTER.-The steamer David Gibson, bound from New Orleans for Cincinnati, and the Nat. Holmes, bound from Pittaburg for St. Louis, came in collision at Aurora, about eight o'clock last evening. A number of lives were lost and both steamers were sunk. We could not learn, at a late hour last night, the exact number of lives lost, as the night was so dark the full particulars could not be obtained. In our next we hope to give our readers a full account of this sad calamity.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS. The County Commissioners at their session yesterday passed some small orders for an aggregate amount of $26 51. No other business was transacted.

HOME INTERESTS.

Smith & Nixon's Hali.-Again this pacious Hall was crowded to witness the performance of the ever-popular Campbells, and of course every body was pleased. They could not be otherwise, with such a funny man as Matt Peel. To-morrow night they present, for the first time in the United States, the Italian Opera, dressed up in burnt cork; for a description of which, see their advertisement. There will be fun at Smith & Nixon's tonight, and all should attend.

Personal-Mr. Tidmarsh, a gentleman well known to the equestrian profession, has been engaged by Mr. John Robinson as treasurer and business manager this season. A more of a gentleman or efficient businessman, Mr. Robinson could not have engaged. Ball & Thomas' Photographs, of every size, are now taken at this establishment in superior style. Ladies and Gentlemen can get their
